It is said that plans for a new station of the Central-Harlem Railroad at this place have been prepared, and that at no distant date a handsome and commodious structure will take the place of the present building. In connection with this it is also announced that the railroad company has purchased a large piece of property alongside the railroad track half a mile south of this village, as a site for its repair shops, which have been badly needed at this end of the line since the removal of the shops at this end of the line since the removal of the shops at this end of the line since the removal of the shops at theirose. At the present time the railroad is obliged to depend upon the shops at West Albany for repairs, and it is said that repair shops would have been established here years ago except for the shortsightedness of property-owners in asking too high a price for their lands.

The Road Committee of the Village Board of Trustees has cleaned up the mud and placed Railroadave, in a presentable condition.

The monthly meeting of the Westchester County Bar Association was held in the Supervisors rooms, at the Courthouse, yesterday morning.
